11. W: Jack, who are those gifts from?

M: They are from my friends.

W: Wow. What are they?

M: Have a guess.

W: Are they notebooks?

M: No, they are not.

W: Are they comic books?

M: That's right.

Q: What are the gifts?

12. B: Happy birthday, Terri! You are seven today. This notebook is for you.

G: Thanks, Jason. It is very beautiful, a cute doll is on it.

B: The mask is for you, too. It's from David and Lisa.

G: It's cool. Hey, what are these? Are they my gifts, too?

B: Yes, they are.

G: What are they?

B: Guess!

G: Are they comic books?

B: No, they aren't. They are picture books. They are from Dad and Mom.

G: Wow!

Q: What is true?

13. M: Are these masks for me, Mom?

W: No. They are your sister's birthday gifts from your uncle.

M: Wow! Where is Meg? Is she at Uncle Bob's home?

W: No, she is at Jeff's place.

Q: Where is Meg?

14. M: Look at my room. Isn't it good?

W: Yeah! There are many books, robots, and a new desk.

M: The new desk is a gift from my uncle, Paul.

W: Paul Su? The writer of "Henry World"?

M: No. My uncle is Paul Lin, a cook, not Paul Su, the writer.

W: I see.

Q: Which is NOT true?

15. M: This is my new comic book. Elephant Billy is strong, Bird Judy is nice, Fox Lily is smart, and Koala Ted is handsome and cute. They are very happy at Cool School.

Q: What is the boy's new comic book about?
